1-POINT QUIZ

ボックス内の例を見て、ルールを考えて、クイズを解いて見ましょう。

LET someone do • HAVE someone do • MAKE someone do
can be confusing. Look at the examples below:

- ① My mom lets me use her iPad.
She doesn't let me use her car.
- ② I have my assistant copy documents.
I don't have her deliver documents.
- ③ My teacher makes me do homework.
She doesn't make me type it.

What's the Rule?

Circle the correct answer.
The following all mean ~させる.

- ① If A wants to do something and B says, "OK, you can do it!"
B [ lets • has • makes ] A do it.
= Aのやりたい事をさせる, ~することを許す
- ② If A is expected to do something and B says, "(Please) Do it."
B [ lets • has • makes ] A do it.
= 義務や仕事として~させる, 当たり前的事をしてもらう
- ③ If A doesn't want to do something and B says, "You must do it!"
B [ lets • has • makes ] A do it.
= Aのやりたくない事を無理やりさせる, 強制する

Circle the correct answer in each sentence.

1. Our landlord won't [ let • have • make ] us have more than one pet.
2. He'll [ let • have • make ] his driver pick us up at Chubu International Airport.
3. My doctor [ let • had • made ] me quit drinking and told me to go on a diet.
4. I really want to study in Spain, but my parents won't [ let • have • make ] me.
5. Could you [ let • have • make ] the porter take our bags to our room?
6. Our teacher won't [ let • have • make ] us use calculators during the exam.
7. My phone battery died, but a stranger [ let • had • made ] me use his phone.
8. My parents won't [ let • have • make ] me go out on a school night.
9. In the U.S., they [ let • have • make ] passengers take off their shoes when they go through airport security.
10. Mr. Willis doesn't read Japanese, so he [ lets • has • makes ] his translator translate important documents.

- landlord = 大家

Don't Wake Her Up

Angela and Valerie are sisters. They live in the same small town where they grew up. They're both in their late 30s now, and they are very close.

Angela works at a bank, and she is a single mother. Her daughter, Caroline, is 8 and is in third grade. They live about 15 minutes from Valerie, who is single and works as a physical therapist at a nursing home in town.

Every day on her way to and from work, Valerie passes by Angela's house. When she plans to stop at the grocery store on her way home, she calls Angela before she leaves work to see if she needs her to pick up anything, like milk or cereal.

Last Sunday, Valerie got off work early, at 3:00. She had plenty of time to stop at the store on her way home, and she knew Angela hadn't been feeling well, so she called to see if she needed anything. Caroline answered her mom's cellphone.

"Hi, Aunt Valerie. It's me, Caroline," she said quietly.

"Hi, honey!" she was surprised that Caroline had answered instead of Angela. "Is your mom home? Is she busy?" Valerie said.

"Yes, she's home, but she's upstairs sleeping," Caroline said, still whispering.

"OK, I was just calling to check up on her and see if she needed anything. Did she go see the doctor today?" Valerie asked.

"Yes. He gave her some medicine and told her to rest," Caroline said. "Do you want to talk to her?"

"No, that's OK. Don't wake her up. Let her rest. Are you OK there all by yourself?" Valerie asked.

"Yes, I'm fine," the girl whispered. "I'm just practicing my drums!"

Susan's Diary

Saturday, February 29th (10:05 p.m.)

I went to a new spa with Motoko and Yoko. Yoko had free tickets, so we decided to go there. We were surprised at the entrance because we could choose what we wanted to wear. There were two styles of loungewear — one was a simple housedress and the other was a pair of pajamas. And there were many colors and patterns to choose from. I chose a dress, but my friends chose pajamas. We all chose different colors and patterns. Inside the spa, we saw couples wearing matching clothes. The spa had a stone sauna, a regular sauna, an outdoor bath, and the usual things. But it also had a coffee shop, a restaurant, and some shops. And there were many shelves full of books on every floor. We tried all of the baths. After that, we went to the restaurant. It was like a family restaurant but mostly self-service. We had to order our food by touching a panel, and we had to get our own water, but a waitress brought our food. The food was just OK. When we were ready to leave, we changed back into our clothes. Then we had to sort everything ourselves. There was a box for the housedresses, the pajamas, the small towels, the large towels, and the baskets. We were confused in the parking garage, too. The entrance and exit of the parking garage were different, so we couldn't go out the way we had come in. We went there to relax, but in the end we were tired.

Notes and examples:

spa = 温泉

① Let's go to a spa this weekend!

② A: You look well rested.

B: That's because I spent the weekend at a spa.

loungewear = 部屋着

① Loungewear is 25% off right now.

② A: You could get her some loungewear.

B: No, I got her pajamas for Christmas.

(a pair of) pajamas = パジャマ(1着)

① I hate pajamas. I sleep in a big T-shirt.

② A: Mom, where are my Superman pajamas?

B: There in the washer. Wear the red ones.

matching = そろいの

① I love to dress my kids in matching clothes.

② A: Why did you all wear matching T-shirts?

B: So we could easily find one another in the crowd.

sort A = Aを分類する

① I sort the clothes before I do laundry.

② A: What are you doing?

B: I'm sorting my books by genre.

in the end = 最終的に / 結局

① I thought I'd find a lot of cool things at the flea market, but in the end, I only bought one old cookbook.

② A: Did your team win?

B: Almost. We were ahead by one in the first eight innings, but in the end, we lost.

HOW MUCH DO YOU UNDERSTAND?

Read the paragraph and answer the TRUE/FALSE (本当ならT嘘ならF) questions. Answers on p.11.

In the US, one in eight women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. The most significant risk factor for developing breast cancer is being female. The second biggest factor is age; the older a woman gets, the greater her risk is. It's important for women to know these three key things they can do to protect themselves. They should perform breast self-examination monthly. In addition, women should avoid a high-fat diet, keep their weight at a healthy level, drink alcohol only in moderation (one drink per day or less), and exercise four hours or more per week. Finally, women over the age of 40 should have an annual mammogram. Some people are afraid to get the exam, but it's important because early detection can save lives.

- T • F 1. Older women are more likely to develop breast cancer than young women.
- T • F 2. There are ways to detect breast cancer in its early stages.
- T • F 3. Monthly breast self-examination does not help detect cancer at any stage.
- T • F 4. Drinking a lot of alcohol can increase a woman's risk of breast cancer.
- T • F 5. Women over the age of 40 should get a mammogram every other year at most.

A recent study finds that the lack of late-night subway service hurts Center City's economy. Businesses say they are losing money and customers because the subway closes early. Late-night workers are the group that is most ①impacted by the lack of public transportation. The new mayor, who ②commissioned the study, is using the results to push for 24-hour service or at least a return to late-night service. Subway service used to ③extend to midnight on Sundays through Thursdays and to 2:00 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. Service was shortened by two hours every day in 2015 because the extra downtime was needed for repairs after damage caused by a storm. "Returning to the former hours would help business ④considerably and allow our workers to get to and from work safely," said a ⑤prominent business owner.

That's Not ENGLISH!

Sara(S) is talking to her roommate, Lana (L).

- S: Did you hear about the frozen iguanas falling from the sky in Florida?
 L: What? No, I didn't. Is that really?
 S: Apparently it is! The temperatures fell to around zero degrees Celsius.
 L: Oh, that's cold for Florida!
 S: I know. Anyway, the cold stuns the lizards, and they look like dead.
 L: That makes sense. But why in the world are they falling from the sky?
 S: That's because they like to sleep in trees. They climb up and fall asleep, and then when the temperature drops, they freeze and fall out of the trees.
 L: That's crazy! Iguanas aren't small!
 S: I know! The article I read said they can get up to two meters long. And lots of them fall, not just one here and there.
 L: Wow. I would be panic out if I woke up to find a bunch of frozen iguanas in my yard!
 S: Yes, but not as much as when they all started warming up and moving around!

★ stun A = Aを気絶させる
 ★ That makes sense = なるほど
 ★ a bunch of As = たくさんのA

Did you find all 3 of the mistakes?
Let's check and practice the phrases:

① really → really true
 → for real

- I had heard rumors that he was a murderer, but I didn't think it was really true.
 ▫ A: I got us all tickets to the big game!
 B: For real? Or are you kidding me?

② look like dead → look dead
 → look like they're dead

- The insects look dead, but they're alive.
 ▫ A: Daddy, why are all the trees dead?
 B: They look like they're dead, but they're not. In the spring, they'll turn green again.

③ be panic out → panic
 → freak out

- He panicked when he couldn't find his dog.
 ▫ A: There was a snake inside your car?
 B: Yes! I freaked out! Luckily my friend was driving and not me!
