Reasons for Divorce

Mark and Gabby have been married for 20 years. They don't have any kids. They're together all the time because they own and manage a bookstore.

The other day Gabby said to Mark, "We never talk any more*. If we continue like this, we'll bore each other to death*. Or we'll end up* divorced!"

"Don't worry," Mark said. "I'm not bored."

"You're not bored yet!" Gabby said. "But what about in ten years? I read that we need to do fun things together, especially new things or things with other people, to keep our marriage fresh."

Mark said, "OK. What do you want to do?"

"Well," said Gabby, "some of the neighbors get together for drinks and darts on Saturday nights. They've invited us many times. Why don't we go*?"

"Sure, honey. If you want to," Mark said.

Later that day, Gabby called Lynn, who organizes the weekly get-together. "Hi, Lynn? It's Gabby."

"Hi, Gabby. Nice to hear from you. What's up*?"

"Can Mark and I join you all* for drinks and darts this weekend? We've never played before."

"That'd be great! Beginners are welcome," Lynn said. "We'll be at the White Pig from 8:00 till about 11:00. Do you know where it is?"

"Yes. We've been there," she said.

"Great!" Lynn said. "Oh, and the people that just moved into the Miltons' old house are coming, too. It should be a fun evening."

"Great! See you then. Bye!" Gabby said.

That Saturday night they went to the White Pig. When the new couple arrived, Lynn introduced them to the group. "Everyone, these are our new neighbors, John and Jane Morgan."

Everyone started asking them questions. When Gabby learned that they were both lawyers, she asked, "What kind of law do you specialize in*?"

Jane answered, "We're divorce lawyers*."

"Oh, interesting," said Gabby. "I've heard that most people get divorced* because they're bored."

"Not really," Jane said. "In our experience, there are three main reasons: money, kids and sex."

Mark nudged* Gabby and said, "See, honey! I told you we have nothing to worry about. We don't have any of those things!"

Susan's Diary

◇ Saturday, October 8th (10:05 p.m.)

Noriko told me a funny story! She attended a wedding today. The bride was an old friend from college, and the wedding was held in Hamamatsu, in a place that looked like a church. When Noriko sat down on one of the benches, she noticed a small box in front of her. She wondered what it was. She opened it and found a ring inside. Then the emcee told everyone that they would all open their boxes at the same time, and she asked them not to open them until she told them to. Noriko hurriedly closed it, but her friends had seen what was in her box. The ceremony began, they signed the marriage registration, and then came the announcement. "Now it's time for the ring exchange. Actually, someone in this room has the real wedding ring in the box in front of you. If you have a ring in your box, come forward and give it to the bride!" Everyone was excited. Soon the venue became noisy. The emcee asked, "Does anyone have a ring?" Then one of her friends said, "Noriko! You have it!" He showed Noriko what was in his box, and there was just chocolate inside. Only then did Noriko realize that she was the one with the real ring! She thought everyone had a ring in their box, a toy ring or a real one. She gave the bride the ring. She said she was so nervous that she didn't remember much.

HOW MUCH DO YOU UNDERSTAND!

Read the paragraph and answer the TRUE/FALSE (本当ならT嘘ならF) questions. Answers on p.11.

Walking is not only good for the heart but also for the brain. Our brains shrink in size in our golden years, which can cause memory problems. But according to research, walking seems to prevent brain shrinkage, and therefore possibly reduce the risk of dementia. The study, which was published in 2010, examined 299 dementia-free elderly people who were asked to record how far they walked each week. Nine years later, the researchers measured the sizes of their brains. Participants who walked between 6 and 9 miles per week had more gray matter than people who walked less than 6 miles. Then, four years later, researchers tested participants and found that 40% of them had developed cognitive impairment or dementia. Researchers reported that those who walked the most had cut their risk of developing memory loss in half. This suggests that even moderate exercise, like walking, gardening or dancing, can enhance the connectivity of important brain circuits.

- T•F 1. By preventing brain shrinkage, we may be able to prevent dementia.
- T•F 2. In the study, participants were asked to walk more than usual and record their distances.

That's Not ENGLISH!

Becky (B) is talking to her friend Chie (C).

- B: I might try making Thanksgiving dinner this year.
 C: Haven't you ever done that before?
 B: Not by myself. My mom always does the cooking. I just help with the side dishes.
 C: It's not that hard.
 B: You've made a turkey dinner?
 C: Yes, because Tom is American, he really loves turkey. My mother-in-law showed me how to make everything just his way he likes it.
 B: It looks hard.
 C: It's like a roasting* a chicken. The hardest thing is getting all of the food ready at the same time.
 B: What other do you make?
 C: The typical side dishes — mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, green beans*, and stuffing*.
 B: I was thinking of making it this year, just for my boyfriend and myself. I don't confident that I can do it, and I'm afraid my oven is too small.
 C: Why don't you buy a turkey roast*?
 B: Is that a pre-roasted turkey?
 C: No. It's a large piece of turkey meat without any bones. It's usually all breast meat. A roast would be easier to cook than a whole turkey.
 B: Hm ... that might work! Where can I buy one?
 C: I'll send you the link to an online shop I like.

*roast (v) = (肉、野菜を)オープンで長時間をかけて焼く・roast (n) = 肉のかたまり
 *green beans = サヤインゲン *stuffing = 詰め物

Did you find all 3 of the mistakes? Let's check and practice the phrases:

① ~~his way he likes~~ → the way he likes it

- ⓐ A: That bacon is really crispy—almost black!
 B: That's the way my husband likes it.
 ⓑ A: You're coworker's desk is really messy.
 B: I know. But that's the way he like it. I like my desk to be nice and neat.

② ~~What other~~ → What else

- ⓐ I've done the laundry and vacuumed. What else do I need to do today?
 ⓑ A: I have an idea! Let's go to the mall?
 B: I don't feel like shopping. What else can we do on a rainy day like today?

③ ~~I don't confident~~ → I'm not sure

- ⓐ I'm not sure that I'll be able to finish the marathon, but I'll try my best!
 ⓑ A: I smell pumpkin pie! Can I have some?
 B: Not yet. It's still in the oven. I'm not sure I did everything right. I hope it's good.
