Honesty

When Carol Turner was growing up, she never saw people with tattoos. In those days, people who had them covered them up, and in some parts of the country it was illegal to give someone a tattoo. So when her own son was a teenager and asked if he could get a tattoo, Carol said, "Absolutely not!"

That was many years ago. Carol is now 65 years old, her son is in his 40s, and he has a few tattoos. That's OK with Carol. Her opinion of tattoos has changed a lot because she owns a coffee shop and bookstore called Java Books, and she has lots of young people working for her. Once Carol was asked by a reporter about tattoos in the workplace, and she said, "I'm used to them. Most of the young people that come here looking for a job have tattoos or body piercings, so if I didn't hire people with body art, I wouldn't have anyone to work in the shop!" She added, "I won't hire anyone with face tattoos or anything obscene, though."

Almost all of the employees at Java Books have tattoos. Katie, who is 22, has a butterfly on her wrist. Sarah, also 22, has a dolphin on her ankle. Justine, 24, has heart on her shoulder. Alexis is the new girl. She's just 19, and she's still a college student. She looks up to the older girls. When she saw that everyone had a tattoo, she wanted to get one, too.

Last Monday morning, Alexis came to work, and she was very excited. "Look what I got!" she shouted cheerfully as she walked into the staff room. The other girls gathered to see the tattoo on her shoulder.

Katie said, "What is it?"

Sarah said, "Is it a Japanese character?"

Justine asked, "What does it mean?"

Carol wondered where the employees were. She found them all together talking excitedly in the staff room. "What's going on in here?" she asked.

Justine said, "Alexis was just showing us her new tattoo!"

Alexis uncovered her left shoulder again to show Carol. "It's a Chinese character. It means 'honesty,'" she said.

Carol said, "It looks nice! But it's time to open the shop, so we'd all better get to work!"

The other girls left the room and Alexis said to Carol, "Ms. Turner, when my mom comes to pick me up today, please don't mention this to her. She'll kill me if she finds out I got a tattoo!"

Susan's Diary

Sunday, July 26th (10:05 p.m.)

Before the pandemic, I never wore a mask, but now we have to wear them. It is good manners when we go out or when we're around other people. Since I started wearing a mask, I've noticed one good thing — I haven't been eating any snacks on the job. That's because I hate it when my mask takes on the smell of food. I usually brush my teeth after I have lunch. But if I eat snacks at work, I can't brush my teeth right away because I'm on the job, so I've stopped eating snacks at work. And the icing on the cake is that I've stopped eating snacks on the weekend, too. For some reason, even though I don't eat between meals, I don't get hungry. That's good for me! But now that I've stopped eating snacks, I have a small problem. Before we were ordered to stay home, I stocked up on snacks that could be stored for quite a while, like chips, crackers and nuts. That was a few months ago, so many of those snacks are going to go bad soon. But I still have a lot of them left! I think I used to snack too much. I told my friend Karen about my stockpile of snacks, thinking she might help me eat them, and she said she had the same problem! It seems we both thought we would need a lot of snacks!

Notes and examples:

I hate it when SV = が～するのが嫌い

- ① I hate it when people talk during a movie.
- ② A: I hit every red light on my way here.
B: I hate it when that happens.

the icing on the cake = さらにいいこと

- ① The party was a wonderful surprise! And your speech was the icing on the cake.
- ② A: The concert was great! Plus we got to go back stage.
B: Wow! That's like icing on the cake!

for some reason = どういうわけか, 何らかの理由で

- ① For some reason, the card readers always have trouble scanning my subway pass.
- ② A: You like this song? You hate jazz!
B: I know, but for some reason, I like it.

now that + SV = 今や～だから, ～からには

- ① Now that everyone is here, let's get started.
- ② A: Now that you're retired, what are you going to do?
B: I'm going to play golf as often as I can!

stock up on A = Aを買いだめする

- ① I stock up on cat food when it's on sale.
- ② A: Why are you buying so many batteries?
B: Because it's typhoon season, and I'm stocking up on emergency supplies.

go bad = (食べ物) 腐る, 痛む

- ① I think this milk has gone bad.
- ② A: Turkey sandwiches again?
B: Yes. I want to eat the turkey before it goes bad.

That's Not ENGLISH!

Hide (H) is telling Kelly (K) about his weekend.

H: I joined a futsal tournament with my friends last weekend. I wanted to score 5 goals myself and I wanted our team to become the champions because I wanted to make a good memory with my friends before I move to Malaysia.

K: Those are ambitious goals!

H: Everyone said that because our team had never won an award, not even for 5th class.

K: So, what happened?

H: There were 3 groups of 4 teams. The winners of each group went on to the semifinals. We were the winners of our group. We had 2 wins and 1 draw, and I scored 2 goals.

K: Great! You went on to the semifinals!

H: Yes. And the opposing team was very strong, but we won 3 to 0, with 1 goal scored by me.

K: Awesome! You made it to the final game!

H: Yes. We played against the champions of the last tournament. Partway through the game, the score was 3 to 0, with 1 goal by me. But the score was same at the end of the game.

K: That means the tournament ended in a tie?

H: No, there was a penalty shoot-out, and the score was 2 to 1. We lost. So we didn't become the champions, and I didn't score five goals. But it's OK. We'll never forget that day! And we have a goal for next time.

Did you find all 3 of the mistakes?
Let's check and practice the phrases:

① joined → played in a I played in a golf tournament last weekend.

b A: Did you play any sports in high school?

B: Yes, baseball. One year we won the championship, but I was injured and couldn't play in the final game.

② class → place

a Mika's team won third place in the dance contest last weekend!

b A: What's this award for?

B: For spelling. Our class won first place in the state spelling bee.

③ same → tied [even]

a A: Who's winning?

B: The score is tied three to three.

b A: What happens if the score is even at the end of the game?

B: There's a penalty shoot-out.
