1-POINT QUIZ

ボックス内の例を見て、ルールを考えて、クイズを解いて見ましょう。

Using ASK, ASK FOR and ASK SOMEONE TO DO can be confusing. Look at the examples below:

- ① He said, "Are you a college student?"
= He asked me if I was a college student.
- ② He said, "Where's the post office?"
= He asked me where the post office was.
- ③ I said, "Can I get the check, please?"
= I asked the waiter for the check.
- ④ She said, "Dad, take me to the zoo, please!"
= She asked her dad to take her to the zoo.

What's the Rule?

Circle the correct answer.

- ① When reporting about a yes/no question, the pattern is → ask (someone) + [interrogative[疑問詞] • if • for] + S V.
- ② When reporting about other questions, the pattern is → ask (someone) + [interrogative[疑問詞]* • if • for] + S V.
- ③ When reporting a request for a thing, the pattern is → ask (someone) + [interrogative[疑問詞] • for • to] + N.
- ④ When reporting about a request for action, the pattern is → ask someone + [interrogative[疑問詞] • for • to] + DO.

*Sometimes the interrogative [疑問詞] = S, in which case the pattern is ask (someone) interrogative[=疑問詞] + V.

Put the correct word in each blank.

IF • IF • HOW • WHAT • WHERE • WHY
FOR • FOR • FOR • TO • TO • TO

Please Don't Call My Mom

Grace is a busy single mom. She works from home most days because she can easily communicate with her coworkers by phone, email or text. She can even meet with them virtually, if necessary. She only goes to the office when she absolutely has to attend meetings in person, which is about once a week. She feels lucky to be able to work from home.

Grace has two kids, Leo and Rose. Leo just started first grade, and Rose is in fourth grade. Thanks to her flexible schedule, Grace is able to drop the kids off at school and pick them up after school. She tries to get as much work done as possible while the kids are gone. Once the kids are home, it's hard for Grace to get much done. She tries to give the kids all of her attention, so she doesn't answer the phone, but she still has to answer email and texts from work. She also has to make the kids' snacks, listen to their stories about school, help them with their homework, make dinner, and get them ready for bed. She couldn't do it all without her cellphone!

One day when the kids were at school, Leo got in an fight. Another boy pushed Leo off the swing during recess, and Leo got mad and punched the boy in the stomach. Both boys were sent to the principal's office. Leo went in first.

The principal asked him, "Do you know why you were sent to my office?"

"Yes, Mr. Gomez," Leo said. "Because I punched Jack. I'm really sorry. I'll apologize to him."

Mr. Gomez said, "You can apologize to him tomorrow. Right now, I have to call your mom."

"Oh, no, Mr. Gomez. You don't want to do that," Leo said.

Mr. Gomez said, "Sorry, Leo. I have to call her. If you won't give me her number, I'll have Mrs. Dawson look it up."

"Her number is 402-555-1212. But please don't call my mom," Leo said.

Mr. Gomez said, "Leo, I have to. But don't worry. I'll tell her the fight wasn't your fault."

"No, Mr. Gomez. You can't call her," Leo said. "My mom never answers the phone. You'd better text her."

Susan's Diary

◇ Thursday, April 28th (10:05 p.m.)

Tomorrow is the first day of Golden Week! I don't have any big plans. I have to work part of the time, so I'm not going anywhere. I know that lots of people are dying to travel or get together with friends or whatever, but there's really nothing I'm dying to do, so I plan to stay home. I hope to get some things done around the house. I say "I hope" because I'd also like to catch up on my reading. I have a stack of books that I haven't read yet, and once I start reading, I lose track of time! But I have a *to-do list! The first thing on it is to clean up the backyard. The weeds have taken over! I want to clean up the yard first so that I can sit outside and read. Today it was a little cold and windy, but I hope it warms up so I can spend some time outside. Another thing on my list is to do some sewing. I have some clothes that need small repairs, and I'd like to alter a few things, too. I have some long-sleeved tops that I'd like to make into short-sleeved or sleeveless tops. Those alterations shouldn't take more than a few hours. Oh, and I need to order something for my mom for Mother's Day! I'd better put that on my list right now, before I forget like I did last year. I'm a terrible daughter!

① I want to do some cleaning before Jenny gets here this afternoon.

② A: Our flight gets in at 2:30 in the afternoon.

B: Great! We can do a little sightseeing before we meet Ted for dinner.

alter A / alterations = Aを仕立て直す/服の手直し

① I had my mom's wedding dress altered and wore it when I got married.

② A: Do you do alterations?

B: Yes, but only on clothes bought at our stores.

before I forget = 忘れないうちに

① I'd better call him now, before I forget.

② A: The meeting has been moved to Monday.

HOW MUCH DO YOU UNDERSTAND!

Read the paragraph and answer the TRUE/FALSE (本当ならT嘘ならF) questions. Answers on p.11.

We often listen to songs with lyrics we don't understand. The words may be *slurred or in a language we don't understand. It doesn't keep us from enjoying the songs, though, and sometimes we even try to sing along. Specialists who study sound symbolism—the relationship between a sound and its meaning—say that we're processing the words as sounds and the voice as an instrument. They say that songs in a major scale make us feel happy, while songs in a minor scale make us feel *melancholic. Lyrics sung at a fast tempo energize us, much like how the beat of a drum makes us dance faster. The quality of the singer's voice adds meaning, too. Words sung in a low, raspy voice mean something different than the same words sung in a clear, high voice. That's why not knowing the meaning of lyrics doesn't stop us from loving a song.

- T•F 1. If we don't understand the lyrics of a song, it's always because they are in a foreign language.
- T•F 2. A song in a minor scale should be sung at a faster tempo to energize us.
- T•F 3. When we don't understand the lyrics, our brains process the words as sounds.

• slurred = 不明瞭な(発音)

• melancholic = 憂鬱な

That's Not ENGLISH!

Tammy (T) is on the computer when her husband, Jim (J), comes in the room.

- T: Look!
 J: What am I looking at?
 T: It's Will and Rie!
 J: I can see that. But why are you so excited?
 T: They have engage!
 J: Are you sure?
 T: I wasn't at first. I saw that everyone was congratulations, but I didn't know why. I mean, it's not his birthday.
 J: Maybe he won a competition or got a new job or something.
 T: I thought about those things, too. But look. They're holding a small cake with something written on it, but the writing is too small. I can't see what it is written.
 J: Let me take a look.
 T: Go ahead, but your eyes are worse than mine! Besides, I texted him.
 J: Oh. And what did he say?
 T: He said they got enaged! It will take some time to make it official, but they're going to get married as soon as possible.
 J: That's fanastic! I'm so happy for them!
